Tuesday 9th June 2020

Kensuke's Kingdom

LO: I am learning to recognise fact and opinion.

(Chapter 8 – Everyone Dead in Nagasaki)

Starter:

Can you list 5 features of a newspaper report/article?

Starter:

Can you list 5 features of a newspaper report/article?

5Ws

Facts

Quotes

Photos

Captions

Formal language

Events in chronological order

Past tense Third person

Puzzle: the sister-in-law of Ysuzuki Nakauchi visits his memorial in Japan

Japanese soldiers 'hiding out since 1945 in mountains'

TWO elderly men found on a remote island are believed to be Japanese soldiers, in hiding since 1915 and desperate to go

Diplomats from Tokyo are investigating the claims of the men, identified by a news agency as Yoshio Yamakawa, 87, and Tenzuld Nakauchi, 83. Their BY PAUL SIMS story emerged when a logger ran into them in the mountains of the southern Philippine island of

They told him they wanted to return to Japan but were afraid of being court-marrialled for get-ring separated from their division and withdrawing from action. They had equipment that suggests they are formed to

According to reports there may be more than 40 other Japanese soldiers living in the mountains, all wanting to go home almost 60 years since Japan formally surrendered.

dopanese embassy representatives are going to the region to interview the men. Prime minister Junichiro Kohmmi said in Tokyo he hoped the mystery would be cleared up suon.

He said: "It is a surprise if it's true. We are checking it now."

The reports are reminiscent of Jeutenant Iliroo Onoda, who believed the war was still on when he was found in the jungles of the Philippines in 1974.

He relused to give up until the Japanese government flew in his former commander to tell him personally that the WAL WAS OVER.

Read through this newspaper report as best you can.

Is the war really over?

Riding out: A young Tsuzuki Nakauchi

From Simon Atkinson in Manila

TWO Japanese soldiers who did not know the Second World War was over have been found in the Philippines jungle after hiding out for 60 years, it was reported last night.

The men, aged 85 and 87, are said to want to return home but fear they may face a court martial for desertion.

Japanese diplomats who flew to the Philippines had hoped to officially identify the two yesterday at a meeting arranged in the city of General Santos, 600 miles south of the capital Manila.

But the men failed to show up at a hotel, apparently because they were nervous about large crowds that had gathered.

The diplomats are trying to contact a mediator to schedule another meeting this weekend.

Japanese media named the men as 87-year-old Yoshio Yamakawa from Osaka, and 85year-old Tsuzuki Nakauchi, but the Tokyo government refused to confirm their identities.

Nakauchi's family released an undated picture of him as a young lance corporal on a horse, but gave no further details.

The discovery of the men comes 31 years after a Japanese officer, Lieutenant Hiroo Onoda, was found living in the jungle on the Filipino island of Lubang. He thought the war was still on. refusing to believe notes dropped by aircraft saying it was over.

Onoda would not give himself up until the Japanese government flew in his ex-wartime commander to formally tell him that his country had surrendered to the Allies in September 1945. Ho was pardoned by Philippines president Ferdinand Marcos and returned home a hero.

Yesterday, Japan's prime minister Junichtro Rolzumi said it is unclear whether the two newly-

Two Japanese soldiers are found holding out in jungle after 60 years true, it's quite a surprise,' he added They've really done well to stay alive this long.' He said the government would make every effort to repatriate them, if that is what they want.

mountainous Columbio area of Mindanao Island - now a hotbed of kidnapping gangs and Muslim rebels. Local news reports said they had made contact with a Japanese who was searching for or whether they had known the the remains of soldiers in the trained in guerilla warfare, was war ended & years ago. If this is area. Goichi lehikawa, chairman left in the jungle with a small of a veterans group in Japan. said he believed the reports to be true, and had been told that several other soldiers are living in the mountains of Mindanao.

hat is what they want.

The men were found in the survive for 60 years, he added. 'Of course I am stunned.'

The Philippines was the scene of murderous fighting at the end of the war as U.S. troops drove out the Japanese, who had invaded in 1941. Hiroo Onoda.

band of soldiers and furbidden by his commander to commit suicide. He was told: 'We'll come back for you whatever happens."

The remaining soldiers died. but Onoda survived on bananas and coconuts. In October 1945. he first saw a leaflet that claimed the war was over - but dismissed it as an Allied ruse

After returning to Japan, he moved to Brazil, and was last heard of running a much there.

Read through this newspaper report as best you can.

Fact and Opinion

https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/zs44jxs/articles/z3wgqhv

Let's watch this video about fact and opinion.

Thinking about Kensuke's life and his choice to stay hidden on the island, do you think the newspaper reports
are true?
Why?

What are the facts?

Task:

Complete the worksheet about the newspaper reports.

Answer each question by writing a paragraph.

Remember to Answer. Prove. Explain.

Tuesday 9th June 2020 Name: LO: I am learning to recognise fact and opinion.

Kensuke's Kingdom by Michael Morpurgo Newspaper Reports

Answer each question in the box below it.
1. What facts did you spot in each newspaper article?
2. Do you think the newspaper report could be about Kensuke? Give detailed reasons for your answer?
3. Do you think the newspaper reports are real/true? Why/why not?

Plenary:

http://www.todayifoundout.com/index.php/2010/02/a-japanese-soldier-who-continued-fighting-wwii-29-years-after-the-japanese-

surrendered-because-he-didnt-know/

